The Pride of Opinion.

Every man, woman and child have their opinions. Some are seemingly officious, with them, and others rather backward in making much display of them; and still others, with "underground railroad" style, work them into popular favor, and the originators, themselves forever keep out of sight and are seldom seen confronting, like soldiers, the public attacks, which are of ten made with a leveling hand against them. These three classes in our opinion are about all who figure much in the world of mind, and who keep thought in echo throughout the land. The first class are great agitators, and extremely fond of manufacturing opinions, and very often are found to have superficially formed their opinions, yet are tenacious that everybody should adopt them, and give them the full amount of credit for having been the origin of them.

Like the outstanding light house, they desire to be beacon-lights to the world.—The second class seemingly are modest gentlemen, and have more depth of the heart, and their opinions are generally well based before they are uttered, and when expressed are fortified with well adjusted reasons. Such persons are like levers. They even the whole mass, and keep the mental pulse in an equal flow, giving health to public sentiment, and keep communities in a quiet mode. The third class are susceptible in their movements, and permeate all ranks, classes, and divisions of mind—fermenting in the souls of the great whole, that wit, that whirl of motion, which comes as each individuality to its own level, augmenting a perpetual flow of common sense from every mind, which is, as a cause, may chance to affect.

All these classes pride themselves on the best outflow of opinion. And in our opinion, with the best possible evidence that they can have, view the evidences of their own senses, which are criteria to self, and in combination with all conditions, makes the sum total, of minds endless outflow.

Consolidation.—The Central Railroad Company have presented $30 to Engine Company No. 2, of Lockport, in recognition of the efficient service rendered by the members of that company in subduing the fire at the Junction. This is a just, generous and commendable act, reflecting credit upon the company.

FORGOTTEN AND FORGOTTEN.—For some days past there has been considerable talk on the street regarding the conduct of Ernest J. Lansing, who has carried on the Hasting business for some years in our city—lately at 24 Beaver st. He having suddenly left the city on Saturday last, the talk has become more pointed until it has taken the open charge that Mr. Lansing has been guilty of forgery. It appears for some months back he has been procuring documents on notes purporting to be signed by E. E. Herrick & Son, in amounts varying from $125 to $200, and in the aggregate to the sum of $1500, mostly at the Merchants' Bank. On Saturday he procured a document at the Bank of Albany on one of the notes for $1250.

The forgery was discovered on Tuesday last, when the Messrs. Herricks received notice of protest from the Merchants' Bank, on a note for some $250, purporting to be drawn by John Murphy in favor of Lansing and endorsed by E. E. Herrick and Son. Not aware of ever having endorsed such a note, the Bank was visited, the paper and endorsement seen, and the latter at once pronounced a forgery. Subsequently further investigations were had, resulting in the finding of a number of notes, to the amount above, with the legal signatures of the Messrs. Herricks as makers.

Another guess he has played pretty extensively, was borrowing money from parties and giving them his check on the Merchants' Bank, payable a few days ahead.—When the checks were presented, the parties holding them were told Mr. Lansing had no money on deposit there.—Albany Herald.

—Ed. Geo. H. B. Fink, of Alabamap, married at Nashville, Tenn., on the 14th, the fair widow Emily, and immediately took the train for New York.

No little excitement was created yesterday in the Female Department of the 4th District School, (Miss Milburn) by the entrance in the school-room of a rabid dog, foaming at the mouth, snapping as he ran along the passing, and exhibiting the usual signs of madness in such sort, that the greatest alarm was naturally excited in the school room. Mr. John E. Thompson, Principal of the male department, with much presence of mind, restrained some of the larger boys, who courageously volunteered to assail the animal, the fear that by approaching it unguardedly, some of them might be bitten. Mr. Thompson then undertook the dangerous task of ejecting the dog from the room, and succeeded in so doing without injury to himself or any of the pupils. The dog died in great agony shortly after.—Washington States.

ACCIDENT AT THE FALLS.—A man named Ferguson, from New Hampshire, was yesterday afternoon passing from the Falls to Suspension Bridge on foot, and when near the landing of the Maid of the Mist, being near the brink of the chasm, was startled suddenly by the whistle of an approaching locomotive, and fell down the bank, a distance of some eighty feet. He remained insensible for some time, but when consciousness returned he was able by his cries to attract the attention of persons on the opposite side of the river, who rescued him from his position.—Buff. Ex.

Destruction is the great work and Death the great workman of war. Only think that at the battle of Magenta there lay dead or gasping for breath on the gory plain, twice as many men as there are in the whole army of the United States—as many men as some of our flourishing inland towns count of inhabitants. Only think of this and speak lightly of the battle field if you can.

It is said that some fifty English gentlemen have determined on chartering a large steamer, for an excursion trip across the Atlantic, and for the purpose of making a tour through the United States. The proposed route, commencing from New York, will take them up the Hudson to Saratoga, thence through the Northern Woods and Lakes of New York, where they are promised some excellent fishing and shooting.

A Board of Regulators has been organized in Green county, Indiana, for the purpose of driving away certain obnoxious persons, against whom no legal evidence of crime or criminal intent can be found. In the printed proceedings of the board six families are warned to leave Indiana, with all their goods and chattels, within four days time.

The Cincinnati Gazette says a meeting was held at Clinton, near Cincinnati, which, as it is stated, was composed of "gentlemen of all parties," which unanimously nominated Millard Fillmore for President in 1890. As Mr. F. was in Cincinnati at the time, it is inferred this movement has his cognizance and sanction. But we doubt it. Mr. Fillmore is understood not to be an aspirant.

Appleton, N. Y., has disposed of his eligible spot on which for eight years he has transacted his business. It commanded the magnificent view of $500,000. It cost the owner, eight years ago, the sum of $200,000. Not a bad profit, when it is considered that the site has been one of the best for business that could be found on Broadway.

The Tribune says the government of England is about to pass from the hands of those whose sympathies are with the Americans into the hands of those whose sympathies are with Napoleon. This may make a decided difference in the programme of the tragedy in Italy, involving a new cast of the characters.

Ex-President Fillmore was at the Springs of Schenectady on the 23d instant, and intended soon to leave for Paris. His route from Rome was through Eastern Italy to Austria, in order to take passage in the last steamer which made the trip passage between that place and Trieste. From that place he ran over to Venice by steamer, reaching Trieste again just before approach of the French blockading squadron. At Vienna he received marked attention from the authorities of Austria, and by invitation attended reviews by the Emperor of the immense bodies of troops then being concentrated at that point.

Some seven or eight months ago, the wife of a prominent citizen of our city took off a portion of a curative needle in the index finger of her left hand, which she was unable to extract. No pain being caused by it, the circumstance was soon forgotten. A few days ago feeling a pain in her shoulder, she had it examined, when a sharp point was found protruding from the skin. On its being extracted, it was found to be the blessed piece of needle that was lost in her finger eight months before! It had, during that time, worked the whole length of the lady's arm without causing any pain or inconvenience.—Civ. Gaz.

NEWS SUMMARY

—Geo. Christy has been fined $35 in New-York, for contempt of Court in playing as minstrel contrary to his agreement with Wood, his old partner and in violation of an order of the Court restraining him from playing.

—Mr. Dallas's last dispatches state that the defeat of Derby was fully anticipated, but the friends of Palmetton and Russell could not agree as to a proper distribution of power, and therefore it was believed they would not be able to form a new Ministry.

—The editor of the Times (Danbury, Ct.) says he was robbed of $350 one night last week. He'll have hard work to make that story go down.

—The Boston Journal publishes a statement of a man cured of a tape-worm by the meat of two ounces of pumpkin seed bruised in mortar with water, and taken upon an empty stomach.

—The lightning struck a house in Campbellburg, Ky., and tore to fragments a piano on which a young lady was about to commence playing. The subtile fluid then left the house without doing further damage.

—The Washington states says that private accounts from Kentucky represent that the election of Vice President Breckinridge to the Senate of the United States is almost positively certain to occur.

—The Queen has, it seems, determined to visit Ireland this summer. She was to be treated to a grand review at the Curragh of Kildare some time toward the middle of the month.

—The Empress Eugenie wore, it is said, upon the day of her last departure for the field of battle, a black crape bonnet, trimmed with a simple fold of the same material, bound with crimson, and tied with crimson strings. Consequently black crape and crimson is the mode in Paris.

—Bishop and Mrs. DeLancy and Mr. W. H. DeLancy, Jr., returned in the Persia—all well.

—The name of the Auburn Daily American has been changed to that of the Auburn Daily Union. Kendrick Veil has become an associate of Wm. J. Kendrick Moses in its publication. R. F. Hall is announced as the senior editor of the paper.

—There is to be a grand military entertainment on the 2d, 3d and 4th of July on the battle field of Tippecanoe near Lafayette, Indiana. Col. Henry S. Lane will deliver a military address and Hon. Thomas Corwin an oration.

—Mr. Van Dyck, Superintendent of Public Instruction, has removed from the Philip B. Daily, the Home School Commission, whose recent trial for an conviction of assault on a young lady teacher was noticed some time since.

—An English coroner's jury have recently returned a verdict of manslaughter against an owner of pleasure boats, for letting one of them out in an unsafe condition, by reason of which one of the party hiring it was drowned.

—The Union Observer says S. P. Tucker of Dry Ridge, Kentucky, who had a rib broken and was otherwise injured by the Squint Bridge disaster on the 11th of May, 1898, has accepted from the New York Central Railroad the sum of $1,500 for damages sustained.

—The N. Y. Evening Post says that about ten o'clock Monday evening, as a driver of the Bull's Head stages was searching in the straw at the bottom of his vehicle for small coin, he found a baby of six months old, which was without a claimant. It was kept over night and then taken to the Almshouse.

—The Cincinnati Gazette contains a lengthy account of the adjustment of an albatross that was to come off, as had been headed, with rides, between Garrett Davis and Capt. Sumner, candidates for Congress in Ky. Several letters, numbering up as high as nine, passed—both satisfied—friends satisfied—nobody hurt—great amount of ink instead of blood wasted, and the parties went home.

Hon. Gilbert A. Grant, late representative in the Senate of California, has commenced an action against C. O. Gardiner and James W. Simonton, proprietors of the Evening Bulletin, claiming $50,000 damages for the publication of a libel. The injurious publication consisted of charging Mr. Grant with corruption in reference to his action concerning the Bulkhead bill during the last session of the Legislature.

BURGLES IN BROCKPORT.—Our neighbors at Brockport are troubled with burglars and thieves just now. The Republic says that three or more dwellings were entered on Wednesday night. From the house of George Gould, a silver watch was taken; from that of Charles Van Epps, $12 from pantaloons' pockets; and from W. Davis, a silk shirt and a lot of silver wares. Other thefts are mentioned.

—The mysterious lady who challenged Paul Murphy to a private game of chess, which she played with such spirit and perseverance, is discovered to be the wife of a celebrated financier and philanthropist, doing business in the vicinity of the Merchant's Exchange, New-York. The husband is said to be very angry about it.
